

Midtown

Defying convention, these 3 homes respond to program and aesthetic challenges with a fresh take on alley-loaded living. Plans were created in unison to provide a diverse and harmonious street scene. Angled walls bring contrast to the street while expanding narrow courtyard space.

As a main level master, plan 1 is single level living with gusto. Building mass is soft with second level bedrooms located well to the back of the home.

Plan 2 offers an indulgent master suite with his and her bath and sunroom. The main level is a transparent experience of loft like space.

Plan 3 challenges the expected family home solution with an off axis circulation core that is reflected on both levels and elevation.

This collection was completed in association with DTJ Design.

Client
Brookfield Homes/DTJ Design

Location
Westminster, Colorado

Project Data
3 plans: 1,795 sf - 2,150 sf

3d illustration provided by DTJ Design

